COMPILER'S NOTE

The utmost care has been taken to obtain accurate information at first hand from the alumni themselves in the compilation of these records. In some cases this has not been possible, and then recourse has been had to annual ecclesiastical records, such as the Minutes of Presbyterian General Assemblies, and the Year-Books of the Congregational, Baptist, Episcopal, and other churches. In some cases similar catalogues of other institutions have been employed. The endeavor has been made to make note of the source of the data when taken from these publications. The compiler is also indebted to a great number of Stated Clerks of Presbyteries and similar bodies, who have replied with unfailing courtesy. To them he would express his obligations.

Sometimes extended correspondence has been required to establish a single date, often three or four letters, and sometimes a dozen. The extent of the undertaking may be judged by the fact that it has required the preparation of between three and four thousand circulars and letters, and the receipt, perusal, and compilation of an equal number of replies. Where so large an amount of detail is involved it is idle to expect that no mistakes have crept in, but it is hoped that their number is not disproportionately great. For corrections and supplementary facts the compiler will be much obliged.

In three cases the details have been omitted by special request.

The size of the book has been kept down as much as possible by the use of abbreviations, the omission of superfluous punctuation, and the printing of arbitrary abbreviations solid. The omission of the first two figures in the year-numbers will cause no confusion. The names of the months have also been cut, but the names of places have been given in full, except where compounded with one of the points of the compass. The names of States are given in their usual shortened forms.

A single year-number after the name of a college, indicates the year of graduation, and where the degree received is not otherwise noted, the degree of B.A. is to be understood. Where a continuous date is given after the name of a college, it indicates the period of attendance, without graduation or a degree. In the case of seminaries, however, this method of marking attendance usually includes graduation: those in the first alphabet under a given year being graduates of this seminary; those in the second, having taken only a partial course or a graduate year here. A dash followed by a period, at the end of a given record, signifies that the relation indicated continued at the time when the compiler's work was done.

In the record of ordination the attempt has been made to include the name of the ordaining Presbytery or Classis. Ordination by Council has not been more closely specified.

The following table shows the totals in the alumni-body:

INDEX OF GRADUATES AND OTHER STUDENTS.

Figures refer to the class in which graduation occurred. When preceded by "p" (partial course), or "g" (graduate student), the reference is to the second alphabetical list in each year's record of classes. The asterisk has its usual significance. The obelus in the Catalogue denotes those who are unknown.
